UNITED STATES FOREIGN TRADE

SUMMARY REPORT
FT 950-I

NOVEMBER 1959

FOR RELEASE
January 8, 1960

IMPORT TRADE BY COUNTRY

The Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce, announced today that the increase in United States general imports from $1,204.8 million[1] in October to $1,283.2 million in November resulted from increases in imports from Western Europe, from $361.8 to $397.6 million; Latin American Republics, from $235.0 to $261.8 million; dependencies of Western Europe, from $71.0 to $79.9 million; and Canada, from $283.9 to $291.4 million. During this period, general imports from "all other countries" remained at about the same level, $253.2 million in October as compared to $252.4 million in November. General imports from O.E.E.C. countries increased from $347.9 to $383.6 million, and a small rise took place in imports from sterling area countries, from $213.7 to $222.9 million.

[1] In anticipation of the longshoremen's strike which started October 1, some import entries which normally would have been filed in October and included in October statistics were filed in September and included in September statistics. Information on the extent to which this affected the October import figures is not available.

The increase in imports from Europe from $368.5 million in October to $402.5 million in November was largely due to gains in imports from West Germany, from $75.6 to $82.5 million; Greece, from $1.2 to $8.0 million; France, from $36.2 to $42.9 million; and Switzerland, from $17.7 to $22.5 million. Small increases in imports from most of the individual countries of North America accounted for the rise in imports from this continent from $370.1 to $398.7 million. The more noticeable increases were as follows: Canada, as noted above, from $283.9 to $291.4 million; the Netherlands Antilles, from $17.6 to $22.5 million; Dominican Republic, from $2.7 to $7.0 million; and Cuba, from $20.1 to $23.7 million. Imports from Africa, due partly to an increase in imports from the Union of South Africa from $8.9 to $14.3 million, rose from $35.0 to $51.3 million. An increase in imports from Venezuela, from $62.6 to $77.2 million, was the main reason for the increase in imports from South America, from $176.0 to $187.9 million.

During this period, a slight decline occured in imports from Asia, from $230.7 to $222.3 million, and in imports from Australia and Oceania, from $24.6 to $20.6 million.

EXPLANATION OF STATISTICS

COVERAGE: Import statistics include merchandise imported by government agencies as well as by private importers, but exclude American goods returned by the United States armed forces for their own use. United States trade with Puerto Rico, Hawaii and United States possessions is not included in this report but the import trade of Puerto Rico and Hawaii with foreign countries is included as a part of the United States import trade. Merchandise shipped in transit through the United States between foreign countries is not included in import statistics.

COUNTRY DEFINITION: Though the country which should be reported in the statistics as the country of origin is defined as the country where the merchandise was grown, mined or manufactured, the country actually shown in the statistics may in a number of cases represent some other country, such as the country of purchase, lading, or the country in which mixed lots of various origin are consolidated. It follows, therefore, that imports from such merchanting or transshipment countries are likely to be overstated and imports from other countries correspondingly understated.

VALUATION: Import values are, in general, based on market price or selling price, and are, in general, f.o.b. the exporting country. They exclude United States import duties. None of the values have been adjusted for changes in price level.

EFFECT OF SAMPLING: Effective January 1958, formal entry shipments valued less than $100 and informal entry shipments valued $250 or less (less than one percent of total import value) are estimated by sampling. The estimated values are included in the area, continent, and country totals in the table. (During 1954-1957, imports valued at $250 or less reported on formal and informal entries were estimated by sampling.) The variability in the import figures due to sampling is no more than three percent or less than $50,000. The largest variation from rounding of figures is $50,000.

Further information regarding coverage, country definition, valuation, etc., is contained in the "General Explanation" in foreword of Report No. FT 110. For complete statement, see the foreword in Foreign Commerce and Navigation of the United States.
